Award-winning West Coast Singer-Songwriter Katrina Bishop has released a new album, 'Hopscotch'. The LP features a dream-team of musicians made up of drummer Pat Steward (Bryan Adams, Matthew Good), bassist Jamey Koch (Jann Arden), synthesizer maestro John Webster (Aerosmith, Bon Jovi) and guitarist Tony Koch (Tony Koch and the AltNews Band). The album was recorded and mixed at Vancouver's Warehouse Studio by Jamey Koch (Tragically Hip, Ron Sexsmith) and mastered at Sterling Sound in New York by Greg Calbi (John Mayer, Norah Jones).

The songs on Hopscotch are a diverse cross-section of Katrina's odd musical background. A big fan of catchy Pop music, Katrina also has a self-professed "short musical attention span" and delights in throwing in unexpected shout-outs to her experience in Musical Theatre, Rock, A Cappella, Celtic, Funk and just a little Country. Her lyrics play with an equally diverse sampling from everyday life, both the big ideas (love, freedom, sociopaths) and the seemingly mundane (housework, wine and cheese, cowboys). As a live performer, Katrina likes to chat about the stories behind the songs, and plays piano, guitar, ukulele and strumstick for a variety-filled show that channels a little Sara Bareilles, a little Regina Spektor and maybe a little too much Tim Minchin.

Radio play for 'Hopscotch' has so far been picked up in Canada, the U.S., the UK, Ireland, Italy, The Netherlands, Germany, France, Norway, Sweden, Columbia and Costa Rica. Katrina performed two CD release concerts, one in Vancouver and one at the Pender Harbour Music Society's concert series. She will be performing locally through the Spring, and will be touring Nova Scotia in the Fall.
